

The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies is a Recognized Independent Centre of the University of Oxford. It promotes excellence in the study of Islam and Muslim societies in any area of the arts, humanities, or social sciences.

VISITING FELLOWSHIPS

2010-2011

Applications are invited for Visiting Fellowships tenable during the academic year 2010-2011.

The Fellowships are offered to support research in any area of the arts, humanities or social sciences that has relevance to the study of Islam or the Muslim world, particularly anthropology, economics, geography, history, international relations, law, literature, philosophy, politics, religion, and sociology.

Applicants would normally be scholars or writers at the postdoctoral or equivalent level, but senior researchers are also eligible. An academic affiliation is not a necessary requirement.

Each Fellowship carries a stipend of £4000 and membership of the Common Room. The stipend is intended as a supplementary award and may be held in conjunction with other research grants, stipends, or sabbatical salaries. Fellowships may be held from 1 October 2010 for up to nine months (though shorter periods will be considered).

Application Procedure:

Further details and application forms may be obtained from the Academic Assistant or from the Centre website. Applications should include a curriculum vitae and a brief statement of proposed research. Two letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the Centre. The closing date for receipt of applications is 4th December 2009. All correspondence should be addressed to:
