OXFORD
Centre for Islamic Studies

SCHOLARSHIPS

— FOR STUDY AT THE —
UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

POSTGRADUATE

The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies (OCIS) is offering up to five OCIS Postgraduate (PG) Scholarships to students applying to undertake graduate study at the University of Oxford (other than for postgraduate certificate or postgraduate diploma courses, part-time courses, or non-matriculated courses). The awards will be available to students ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom and from a Muslim community, and students who are nationals of, and ordinarily resident in, one of a number of countries in Asia and Africa (listed opposite). The awards cover University fees and include a maintenance grant. Awards may be offered in conjunction with other sources of funding, although that will be taken into account when determining the value of the award.

Purpose of Scholarships

The purpose of the OCIS Postgraduate Scholarships is to encourage students to pursue studies that will be of benefit to Muslim society. Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of academic merit. For those candidates ordinarily resident in the UK and from a Muslim community, a preference will be given to those from a financially disadvantaged background. Applicants must be able to show how their intended course of study is relevant to the Muslim world.

Closing Date

The deadline for applications for OCIS Postgraduate Scholarships coincides with the University of Oxford's January application deadline. See the website below for details.

The Oxford Centre for Islamic Studies was established in 1985 to encourage the scholarly study of Islam and the Islamic world. The Centre provides a meeting point for the Western and Islamic worlds of learning. At Oxford, it contributes to the multi-disciplinary and cross-disciplinary study of the Islamic world. Beyond Oxford, its role is strengthened by an international network of academic contacts.

Further information about scholarships, and the Centre's other academic activities, can be obtained from the Centre's website and from the Academic Office: academic.administrator@oxcis.ac.uk
